Friends of Grasslands supports the naturalisation of the Tuggeranong Creek and other works that will result in improved water quality. This is an opportunity to significantly enhance habitat and connectivity along the length of the creek, using the local native species for the reconstruction as identified in the plan and ensuring all measures are taken as identified in the plan for weed control, ensuring no damage to heritage values, no damage or disturbance to mature native trees and minimisation of disturbance to other natural values. We recommend that native herbaceous, shrub and tree species be planted to enhance biodiversity benefits.
